Okawville into the championship game today at 6 p.m. at the Cayuga High School gymnasium.

Okawville, located in southern Illinois, is the quintessential basketball town, where the sport is played almost year around.

"We do not have football so these kids play basketball eight months a year," Frederking explained.

The team gets great support from parents, who also make the trip to Texas and sit in the stands, all wearing orange Okawville shirts, cheering for their team.

"The parents are great," Frederking added. "They put in a lot of time and commitment."

All 12 players on the Okawville team have at least one parent with them.

"There is no way I would be doing this without the help of the parents," Frederking said.

Okawville has a 20-game schedule and practices five days a week for six weeks before the national tournament.

While the team spends the week in Texas, the players are missing three days of school, but the players turn in their work before leaving for the tournament.

"School is the only hold back but the kids have to turn in their home work for the missed days before we leave," Frederking said. "With us, school comes first."

Going out of state for the tournament can be costly with travel and hotel expenses, but the Okawville squad does a great job doing fund-raisers, including a golf tournament, candy sales, and two of their own basketball tournaments.

"We raise money all year around and the parents do a great job doing the fund-raisers," Frederking said.

With the money the team was able to raise, Okawville chartered a bus to Anderson County and they all stay in the same hotel.

"One reason we are successful is we do everything as a team, including all the players and coaches stay in the same hotel," Frederking said. "We are one big family for the week."

Illinois team a regular at E. Texas Little Dribblers basketball tourney

4-6-02

By SCOTT TYLER

Herald-Press Sports Writer - Driving over 700 miles may seem to be a far way to go for a youth basketball tournament, but for a boys' major team from Okawville, Ill., it is just another yearly trip.

The Okawville squad has traveled to Texas the past 10 years to participate in the Little Dribblers Continental Division Basketball Tournament each spring.

"We started coming down to the tournament and found success," Okawville head coach Mike Frederking said.

Frederking has been involved in the Okawville program for eight years and took over as head coach last season.

Frederking said he enjoys the national tournament because of the different rules including having to play man-to-man defense in a game, except for the fourth quarter.

"We like the rules that this tournament has," he said. "It is important to learn how to play man-to-man."

Okawville came into the 2002 tournament the defending champions of the boys' major division, defeating West Hardin last season.

"After last year we have high expectations," Frederking said. "When we left Illinois, we hoped to play four or five games."

Friday morning, Okawville advanced to the semi-finals after defeating Cold Springs 43-37, in a tough battle. A win over Centerville Friday night will put

Host Analytics Sponsors NFED Golf Tournament

(OKAWVILLE, IL) - Smiles and funds were raised at the 10th Annual APPLE CLASSIC Golf Tournament to benefit the National Foundation for Ectodermal Dysplasias (NFED) on June 23, 2000 at Spring Valley Golf Course in Okawville, Illinois.

124 people participated in the annual event sponsored by Host Analytics and Union Planters Bank. Businesses from three counties in Illinois and three counties in Missouri participated, raising $19,000 for the NFED. Support from the business community counted for much of the Apple Classic's success, according to NFED founder and executive director, Mary Kaye Richter.

"The NFED was very fortunate to have strong corporate sponsors," Richter said. "Their moral and financial support demonstrate their commitment to help children with ectodermal dysplasia (ED)."

In addition to Host Analytics and Union Planters Bank, corporate sponsors included Bank of O'Fallon, Capital, Technology and Leasing, LLC, Donnewald Distributing Co., E.J. Welch Co., Inc., Hager Companies and Illinois Distributing Co., Inc.

The Apple Classic is planned by a committee of volunteers from the metro east community: co-chairs - Ed Schlef and Keith Throm, Susan Kehrt Albrecht, Chuck Eckley, Randy Hunt, Barb Klingelhofer, Cathy Klingelhofer, Brian Moll, Carla Norrenberns, Chris Pagano and Ken Reinhardt.

Located in Mascoutah, Illinois, the NFED is the only organization in the world to serve more than 2,700 individuals in 50 states and 50 countries who are affected by ED. Children who are affected by this rare genetic disorder are challenged by sparse hair, nonfunctioning sweat glands, missing teeth, and abnormal nails and skin. Researchers estimate that one out of every 10,000 births results in an ED. Monies raised at the Apple Classic will fund various NFED family services. This month, the NFED awarded $10,000 in scholarships to individuals with ED. The funds will also underwrite the 19th Annual National Family Conference in Birmingham, England, August 16-18, 2000, where 200 people from 10 countries will gather to share

Education

Teamwork, a quality educational foundation, and student achievement characterize the educational system serving the community of Okawville and its students.

West Washington County Community Unit District #10 serves public school students in grade kindergarten through twelve. District #10 consists of three attendance centers: Johannesburg Grade School (K-6), Okawville Grade School (grades K-6) and Okawville Jr. Sr. High School (grades 7-12). Approximately three hundred thirty students attend the district's schools. In addition to the academic core courses (language arts, science and social science) the schools offer gifted, remedial, and special education services as well as physical education, music, band, and chorus. The district also offers baseball, softball, and basketball as extra-curricular activities. Numerous clubs and organizations exist at the high school level.

Students in the district consistently score in the upper one-third of all schools in Illinois taking the Illinois Goal Assessment Program tests. Band and chorus groups traditionally receive first division ratings. Its athletic teams are consistently competitive regionally and state wide and have received state championships in baseball, softball and basketball.

Student attendance in the district's schools is annually at the 95% level or above. The high school graduates 90% or above each year with 80% or more of our students continuing in higher education or technical school.

Longevity of service and continuing education are priorities to district teachers. Our teacher average over the years of teaching experience, and fifty-nine percent of our teachers have their Master's degree or above. The teacher ratio for the district is under 17.5:1 as reported in the 1996 School Report Card published by the State Board of Education.

Immanuel Lutheran School, a parochial school at 606 South Hanover Street, serves kindergarten through eighth grade. Daycare, preschool, and an after school program are also available. The Christian-centered atmosphere includes weekly chapel services, daily religious instruction, confirmation instruction, daily devotions and prayer. Immanuel also offers, in addition to the basic academics, computer skills, scholar bowl, spelling bees, National Geographic Bees, science fairs, National Mathematics League, class trips, outdoor education programs, and other programs. The band program is in cooperation with the local unit district.

Students may participate in church and chime choirs. Basketball, track, volleyball, softball and cheerleading are the sports available at Immanuel. Parents may join the Parent Teacher league and volunteer in the library, computer program, lunchroom, playground, coaching, or as a classroom helper. The pupil to teacher ratio is 12:1.

Several public and private colleges and universities are within daily commuting distance of Okawville. Kaskaskia Community College District #501, located near Centralia, and Belleville Area College District #100, located in Belleville are two-year community colleges that offer occupational and vocational courses of instruction. Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and Southern Illinois University at Carbondale are state-funded universities that offer a host of day, evening and weekend classes. McKendree College, located in Lebanon, Illinois, is a private college offering a variety of undergraduate and graduate programs.

through high school. Flag football and soccer are also offered in the fall for younger age groups. A grant from the Illinois Department of Natural Resources is helping the park to expand. Future services will include new tennis courts, basket ball/roller blade court, soccer field and walking path. Volunteers are the life-blood of the group and help by coaching, serving on the board, maintaining the grounds or working in the concession stands.

Okawville Community Club Park is home to several picnic areas including several large pavilions, a playground and a large multi-use building. The Community Club Park often hosts local auctions, indoor and outdoor dances, community dinners, and the annual Okawville Fair and Wheat Festival.

The Okawville High School Library is open to the public several evening a week and on Saturdays. Its small but ever-growing collection serves the needs of young readers through adults.

Civic Organizations

Civic organizations in the community include the Lions, the Knights of Columbus, American Legion, Post , Girl Scout and Boy Scout Troops, Home Extension, and 4-H groups. In addition several of the churches sponsor youth organizations private four-year college offering a full range of undergraduate and post-graduate majors.

Daycare/Preschool

Okawville offers several options for childcare and preschool programs.

Immanuel Lutheran Wee Care opened its new facility in September 2000. The hours of operation are 6:30 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. Daycare is offered for children fifteen months through twelve years of age. The playground for children fifteen months through three years is surrounded by a fence. Another playground is available for the other age groups. Before and after school care is also offered.

Immanuel Lutheran School offers a preschool program for three and four year olds. You will also find many people in the area who provide day care in their homes.
